

Nick England Joins Corum Board

Corum Group Limited (ASX:COO) is pleased to announce that Nick England has been appointed to the Corum Group Board as a Non-executive Director.

Nick has over 35 years of experience and high level global relationships formed through his consulting and senior management roles in Australia, the UK and Europe. Prior to migrating to Australia, Nick held senior management roles with leading global health and beauty company Alliance UniChem PLC (now Walgreens Boots Alliance), which operates 18,000 pharmacies across multiple countries. As Group Director for Alliance UniChem, Nick was responsible for developing opportunities with key global network partners.

Previously, Nick was also CEO of Alliance UniChem Retail International with responsibility for 300 pharmacies across Europe.

Nick is experienced in Australia in many areas of technology relevant to Corum's business. He also has previous experience in managing marketing, sales and contracts with major retail customers and suppliers. Nick is an Executive Director of healthcare technology specialist Alchemy Healthcare.

Nick England said, "I am excited to join the Corum Board at a time of significant potential opportunity and change in the pharmacy software market and broader healthcare industry."

Corum Group Chairman Bill Paterson said, "We are delighted with Nick's appointment to the Board. His broad ranging pharmacy and healthcare experience and relationships are an asset to the Company."

Bill Paterson
Chairman

For further information contact:

David Clarke, CEO
Investor email: companysecretary@corum.com.au